HOSPITALITY MODERN APPRENTICESHIP (FOR APPRENTICES)

WHY BECOME AN APPRENTICE?
The hospitality industry is the fourth largest in the UK and second in Scotland. It is of huge importance to the economic and social structure of the country.

An apprenticeship is a great route into an hospitality career as it provides valuable work experience through paid employment and opportunities to gain new skills and qualifications on the job. Working alongside a wide range of professionals is also a valuable means of improving team working performance and communication skills.

Apprentices have a high degree of autonomy and responsibility and may provide some supervisory support. Roles can be gained in businesses such as hotels, restaurants, pubs, catering companies and educational institutions up to senior management level.
